BICENTENNIAL BALL GAME HAS ANNIVERSARY FLAVOR

by Jim Kittilsby

Fifty nifty years of PLU football, 1926-76, set this game and season apart from other bicentennial sports bashes.

Baseball could counter by citing the National League's 100th anniversary, but the Lutes have tossed out only a lead card in a royal flush of fivelous events.

The Year of Our Lord 1976 marks the fifth season for multiple-motion maestro Frosty Westering, the 25th wedding anniversary for Frosty and frau, and the fifth meeting between the Gradulutes and the Varsity.

In all candor, perhaps 90% of these alumni-varsity confrontations around the country are exhibitions at best, more than likely "laughers," with the younger set having the chuckle.

Such is not the case at PLU. Talented alums abound in nearby locales. Upwards to 17 members of PLU's nationally 10th-ranked squad of 1975 will be in the Alumni's starting lineup.

The Alumni won the first encounter, 13-12, back in 1956. After a 16-year hiatus, the series resumed in 1973, the Varsity prevailing 27-7. Down 19-0 at halftime the following year, the Varsity bounced back for a 36-19 decision. PLU was dominant last year, winning 23-0.

Northwest Conference tri-champion PLU, 7-2 in 1975, will be led offensively by quarterback Doug Girod and Little All-Northwest running back Jon Horner. Girod was an understudy to Alumni signal-caller Rick Finseth, who holds five PLU records.

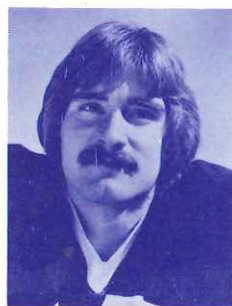

LUTE-A-TOOT

LANCE SCHROEDER (71), Bellevue (Interlake) senior guard, a two-year letterman up from the Bomber ranks, is a business administration major.

ROB MICHAELSEN (72), junior defensive tackle, an elementary education major, prepped at Mill Valley, California, but now calls Lopez Island home.

GREG PRICE (15), junior running back from Longview (R.A. Long), a P.E. major, averaged 6.0 yards per carry seeing limited action in 1975.

JIM GARD (21), senior defensive back from Federal Way, (Jefferson), making his debut in the starting lineup, pursues a P.E. major.

MAJOR RULE CHANGES FOR 1976

1. A player can run back a kick from the end zone providing the ball does not touch the ground in the end zone before he makes the catch.
2. On a kickoff going out-of-bounds, the receiving team has the option of taking the ball where it goes out, or having the ball kicked over. If they choose the latter, the kicking team is assessed a five-yard penalty.
3. A defensive player cannot pick up and run with a fumble which has touched the ground.
4. On pass interference, the ball is spotted at the point of the infraction with an automatic first down. Exception: on interference in the end zone, the ball is spotted at the one-yard line.

FOR LOGGER-LUTE ANNUAL RUMBLE, STICKEM'S ON TO STOP THE FUMBLE

by Jim Kittilsby

When Logger field foreman Paul Wallrof and his Lute counterpart Frosty Westering pace the sidelines hollaring "stick 'em," they're not admonishing their charges to assail the opponent with greater intensity. Constant crunch is built in to every UPS-PLU contest.

The coaches are more than likely instructing their respective trainers to apply a glue-like paste to the finger tips of the athletes. In last year's 20-7 windup which favored the Loggers, two giants of Northwest small college football battled like men of granite, with plaster of Paris hands. Sixteen fumbles, eight by each team, followed collisions of Richter scale magnitude.

On the surface, based on last season's performance, the matchup pits a defensive titan, UPS, against the multiple-offense strength of PLU. The Logger line allowed only 77.5 yards per game last year, but the only starter back is rugged nose guard Dan Kuehl.

PLU, 7-2 in 1975, led the 17 regional small colleges in total offense with 381.2 yards per game. Jon Horner, who packed for 750 yards, a 6.1 average, is back, but several new faces dot an untested Lute line. All-everything linebacker Steve Ridgway, end Mark Brandt, and safety Steve Irion headline PLU's defensive corps.

UPS, 7-3-1 last season, leads in the series 37-11-5. The Loggers, who zapped Montana Tech last week 20-0, are sparked offensively by quarterback Clay Angle, running back Greg Baker, and tight end Rich Arena.

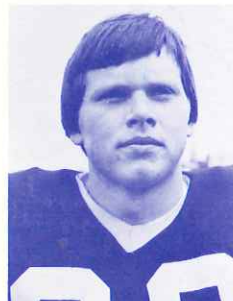

LUTE-A-TOOT

DOUG GIROD (10), senior quarterback from Lake Oswego, Oregon, takes over the offensive controls after three lettering seasons as an understudy.

JOHN ZAMBERLIN (56), sophomore defensive tackle, a hard-hitter both fall and spring, led NWC baseballers with six homeruns last year.

LEN BROWN (82), sophomore defensive end, a business administration major, was a prep all-stater at Milton-Freewater, Oregon.

DUANE FROMHART (81), junior offensive end and punter, from Clover Park HS, averaged 34.2 yards per punt in 1975 and caught two TD passes.

- MAJOR RULE CHANGES FOR 1976
1. A player can run back a kick from the end zone providing the ball does not touch the ground in the end zone before he makes the catch.
 2. On a kickoff going out-of-bounds, the receiving team has the option of taking the ball where it goes out, or having the ball kicked over. If they choose the latter, the kicking team is assessed a five-yard penalty.
 3. A defensive player cannot pick up and run with a fumble which has touched the ground.
 4. On pass interference, the ball is spotted at the point of the infraction with an automatic first down. Exception: on interference in the end zone, the ball is spotted at the one-yard line.

WILLAMETTE "D" SLAMS THE DOOR, IN THE STATS IF NOT THE SCORE

by Jim Kittilsby

His credibility on a par with a Ralph Williams automobile salesman, you'd think Tommy Lee was making a pitch for Stutz Bearcats rather than his Willamette Samenames.

It has to do with the third year Willamette coach's propensity towards engaging in a hard-sell buildup of his defensive unit. For this he has been unjustly maligned.

Some find it difficult to fathom how a team which has yielded, in successive weeks, 39, 37, and 30 points, could have the audacity to focus attention on its defensive prowess.

A quick review, however, supports Lee's claims. Playing somewhat out of their element, the Bearcats fell to NCAA-linked University of Nevada-Reno 39-6. Puget Sound's defense set up the scoring in WU's 37-7 reversal in game two, not a collapse of the Bearcat barrier. UPS had but two first downs in the first half and could muster only 159 yards rushing for the game, just 58 by passing. The Cats upset Whitworth 40-30 last week.

While only 4-5 last year, WU was the number one defensive team in the Northwest Conference, yielding but 229 yards per contest, 110 against the rush, 119 passing.

Graduation thinned the linebacking ranks, but five vets patrol in the secondary. Gary Johnson, 6-4, 245 pound All-America candidate, is a run-reducer at end. On offense, junior Bill Gray, who sat out last season, is one of the loop's more accomplished runners.

PLU, 1-2, leads in the series 6-4, all the victories coming in succession.

LUTE-A-TOOT

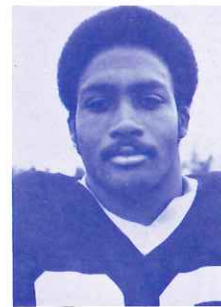

DAN PRITCHARD (66), senior guard, who adds muscle to the Lute wrestling program, was a prep running back sensation at Milwaukie, Oregon.

JIM CARLSON (31), junior defensive back from Seattle's Sealth HS, applies his engineering major designing run-pass road blocks.

JIM CHRISTIANSON (57), senior linebacker pursuing a law career, played two seasons at Washington State before transferring to PLU.

PRENTIS JOHNSON (22), junior running back, missed last season with a broken foot after gaining 6.1 ypc in 1974, but is back at full speed.

- MAJOR RULE CHANGES FOR 1976
1. A player can run back a kick from the end zone providing the ball does not touch the ground in the end zone before he makes the catch.
 2. On a kickoff going out-of-bounds, the receiving team has the option of taking the ball where it goes out, or having the ball kicked over. If they choose the latter, the kicking team is assessed a five-yard penalty.
 3. A defensive player cannot pick up and run with a fumble which has touched the ground.
 4. On pass interference, the ball is spotted at the point of the infraction with an automatic first down. Exception: on interference in the end zone, the ball is spotted at the one-yard line.
