

Coming from Mountain Ridge High School (Glendale) where he worked as the offensive analyst in 2023, Dustin “Double D” Ditmore accompanies his brother, Head Coach Tyson Ditmore, to become Horizon’s football program analyst. Ditmore’s depth of high school and college playing experience—he played a range of positions in basketball, baseball, and football—provides a strong perspective he’ll bring to the Husky sidelines. Also a Las Cruces High School (New Mexico) Bulldawg, Ditmore continued his education at New Mexico State University where he studied marketing and finance. If he’s not busy analyzing plays or playing sports himself, you’ll find him working with his non-profit The Romero-Ditmore Foundation, which provides school supplies, sporting goods, and necessities to underprivileged communities; you can even catch him on Netflix as a fullback in the series Friday Night Lights.
