

Fire Juniors Emerging Talent Program 2019 Elite ID Camp

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

What is the Emerging Talent Program?

The Emerging Talent Program (ETP) is a program designed to bring together the most competitive Fire Juniors players from across all 11 clubs in the network. This begins with a 4-day residential ID Camp that provides an opportunity to identify and evaluate emerging talent from across the network, with a view to then selecting players to participate in the Fire Juniors Elite teams in a high-level youth tournament. Key information includes:

- 4-day Residential ID Camp (invite only) in July/August (11U-14U only);
- Camp includes a mixture of training sessions, ID games, and off-field workshops led by Chicago Fire staff and outside professionals;
- Camp is coached by the leading club directors and coaches from within the network;
- Chicago Fire Academy (boys) and Indiana Fire ECNL (girls) staff in attendance to evaluate players for potential academy opportunities and;
- Residential assistants onsite for the duration of both camps and provide 24-hour supervision of the players alongside other camp directors and staff.

Who can participate in the Elite ID Camp?

The ID camp is invite only. Directors of Coaching and technical staff from each Fire Juniors club nominate players their U11-U14 age groups. Player nominations are based on player ability and other factors such as commitment to their Fire Juniors. Chicago Fire staff then review all nominations before selecting a list of players they wish to invite to the Elite ID Camp.

How many players are selected to attend the ID Camp?

For each camp, we allow a maximum of 110 players to participate. This is typically divided into a maximum of 20 players at U11 and then 30 players in each of U12, U13 and U14. Each age group typically has 50-60 players nominated. We max out at these numbers so all players on camp can fully benefit from it with enough time on the field during training and games.

What steps are taking to ensure Health and Safety during Elite ID Camp?

Health and safety are a key component of the Elite ID Camp Risk Assessment we are conducting in partnership with Lake Forest Academy. Some areas of consideration include:

- 1) Staffing: All staff have undergone a complete background check which is required by Lake Forest Academy and to coach at their own Fire Juniors club.
- 2) Supervision: Players will be supervised by coaching staff on the field and designated Residential Assistants off the field. All Residential Assistants will go through the same background check our coaches go through.
- 3) Waiver: Each player and guardian will be expected to sign a Medical Treatment Authority, Release and Liability Waiver prior to arrival. This waiver includes: No Remuneration or Insurance Coverage: Medical Treatment Authorization: Authorization for Release of Protected Health Information:

Assumption of Risks: Release & Waiver: Indemnification: Publicity Consent: Severability & Venue: and Acknowledgment of Rules & Standards of Conduct.

- 4) Trainer & Medical Staff: A trainer will be available for players during practical sessions and First Aid staff will be on call during hours off the field.
- 5) Venue Assessment: Lake Forest Academy is a secure and safe venue that falls in line with private boarding school criteria for overnight stay. The school houses students during fall, winter and spring semesters, and residential events run by groups such as US Soccer and Chicago Fire during the summer months.
- 6) Down time: Players will be permitted to use the school sports facilities (running track, fitness suite etc...) during designated 'free time', however will not be allowed use the facility swimming pool.
- 7) Nutrition & Hydration: Lake Forest Academy will be issued with specific dietary requirement for meals aimed at refuelling players for high level performance.

What are the next steps after the Elite ID Camp?

Technical staff will evaluate players during the 4-day Camp and using recommendations from club staff will select a number of players per age group to participate in U12-U14 Fire Juniors elite teams. Parents and players will be notified no later than 30 days after the event.

How can my child get feedback after the Elite ID camp?

It is a Fire Juniors core value to encourage players (rather than parents) to have a dialogue with their coach. This should occur with players as young as 11 or 12 years old. Players attending the ID Camp should demand more from coaching staff and regularly ask "how did I perform," "how can I improve a particular technique," or "what do I need to do to take my game to the next level?"

What happens if my child doesn't make the team?

An informed coach knows that players develop at different rates and this year your player may not meet our evaluation criteria. The important thing is they are in the correct environment and their Fire Juniors club will allow them to grow and develop. We encourage your player to take the feedback provided to them at camp back to their regular team and training/games, and look to continue developing so they can be invited back to future Elite ID Camps.
