TOURNAMENT INTRO

BY MICHAEL PARFITT - COLORADO FLAG FOOTBALL CORNER

Welcome teams, players, and fans to the 2021 Best of the Best IX National Tournament. This year's tournament is on pace to be even better than last years. The temperature is looking to be in 70's and the air quality seems to be leaps and bounds better than last year's. Out of state players will actually be able to see we do in fact have those gorgeous mountains after all.

Just a couple of months ago, there were dreams of sugar plums and a max of 48 teams playing for a grand prize of $10,000. As the Best of the Best tournament has drawn near and teams still playing in their local leagues or other tournaments, injuries have seemed to take their toll. The current back-to-back champion Huskers are one of these teams that injuries have made a major impact on as last year's Tournament MVP QB Artie Barcelo was one of those players recently injured. That injury prompted a merger with two of Colorado's top teams for this year's tournament. So, teams should know the Huskers are reloaded in attempts to bring home a third consecutive Best of the Best championship. That elusive threepeat will not come easy with so many top teams being here. As time has gone on, the teams seemed to drop off at an alarming rate but as the week of the tournament has drawn near, we are now set at 28 total teams. This year's set of teams bring so much talent from across the nation, this tournament should be recognized as one of the true national championships. Overall, there will be 12 states represented in this this tournament. With only 13 Colorado teams, more than half of the squads are from out of state. This year 20 teams are expected to make the Pro Bracket which adds just that much more intrigue for the Sunday money bracket. Teams will need to have good attrition to make it through this gauntlet.

A friendly reminder that Colorado is a mile above sea level and what they say about altitude is 100% real, so make sure everyone stays hydrated. It's time to put all talk aside and see who truly the Best of the Best is!

UT COBRAS

PENNSYLVANIA

Team Preview:

Making their way from Pennsylvania is the UT Cobras. Anytime a team travels across the country to compete, you know they are a good team. In this case these guys are constantly being thrown in as a top five team in the nation. The UT Cobras clinched the number 3 seed by winning the Pro division in the FFWCT Arlington Major tournament. From the film that I have seen on these guys, UT Cobras is 100% legit. They run a more traditional style of offense and are very efficient while doing so. Their QB appeared to have a very quick release, combined with the fact he stands about 10 to 12 yards deep making sacks a rare occurrence. On defense the d-line looks to have a great combination of size and speed that creates a ton of pass rush pressure. UT Cobras has had several battles with top tier teams like Undisputed, STV, and Shockwave meaning they are no stranger to the level of competition that will be at the Best of the Best tournament. As is always the case with East coast teams, how will they handle playing at altitude will be a big question. However, there is no doubt in my mind these guy should be one of the top seeds going into the Pro bracket.

AS UNITED WASHINGTON DC

Team Preview:

AU is one of the very best teams in the nation. Some have them as the number one while I'd be shocked If anyone has them below number 5. Out of DC, these guys don't need much of a write up telling you who they are. I can tell you they are the UFFL National Champions from January behind the arm of QB Rick Fobbs JR. Rick is a dual threat QB but with full grown men on his line there aren't a lot of times he feels the need to run. In addition to having a good o-line, he also lines up pretty deep that makes the d-line have to win a track meet before they even get close to him. AU is no stranger to big time tournaments nor any of the East coast teams that are in the Best of the Best. Getting to Sunday is not going to be a problem. As is the usual case, altitude is going to be a factor in answering how far they go. The highest elevation in Washington D.C. is 409ft above sea level while Loveland, CO is at 4,982ft above sea level. These guys will feel that change, but they are team with enough experience to "weather the storm".

UNDISPUTED

ILLINOIS

Team Preview:

Considered one of the best teams from around the Nation will finally be making their Best of the Best debut. While the team name is Undisputed, I've heard through the grape vine this team is made up of players from Windy City Hammer and Showtime. That means this team is legit. While this team is scattered with talent, they understand that championships are own on the defensive side. Two of their top defensive guys are Terrell Wilson who plays safety and Antonio Taylor who plays anywhere he is needed. Of course you still need an offense and with most likely the best oline in the tournament that shouldn't be an issue. Holding down the line is Jared Mcgriff-Culver, John Tranch, and Jon Daniel Bin. All that will be looking to take would be pass rushers out to a pancake breakfast on Saturday and Sunday. What makes this team so good is the ability to match up with all the different styles of offenses. Their dline helps in that regard and creates massive amounts of pressure. On offense everyone catches the ball and they block, boy do they block. So just a public service announcement to the defenders that may face this offense, keep that head on a swivel. This is another team that I am excited to finally have at the tournament and get to see play in person. These guys are licking their chops at the potential to go up against teams like UT Cobras, Main Event, Huskers, and AU. There is no doubt in my mind Undisputed will come out as the number one seed from the pool play and get the chance to face some of those teams. I guess the real question is, how will they handle the altitude?

Team Previews Written By: Michael Parfitt - Colorado Flag Football Corner

STV

OHIO

Team Preview:

I want to welcome back STV as they will be playing in their second Best of the Best tournament. Last year they went 3 and 0 in the pool play with a point differential of plus 70 that earned them the number one seed. I'm not sure if STV stayed up too late or for whatever reason, they didn't have things rolling on Sunday and were stunned in their first game on Sunday in the money bracket. I foresee things being different this year. STV has quickly moved up the national ranks and were ranked #2 in the Flag Spin rankings to start the year. In January, STV played 9 games in the UFFL National Championship but barely lost 9 to 0 to All Star United. These guys have unfinished business, so look for them to be in the Pro bracket and will definitely be a team that makes a run at the championship. These guys are loaded with speed all over the field and can match up with anyone. Mike Tatum usually runs QB, but I have seen a video that shows Dei Roseman throw the ball about 100 yards for a touchdown, so needless to say defenses will need to cover literally the entire field. On the defensive side look for Sir Gregory Powell to make MVP type plays, which he is used to doing. In 2020, this team's first season, they went a total of 74 wins only 10 loses 1 tie along with 6 total championships. So needless to say, this team is going to be one tough out in this tourney.

SHOCKWAVE

GEORGIA

Team Preview:

Another Georgia team finding their way west to compete in the Best of the Best. Shockwave is led by coach Angelo Sykes. One of the main players is Amos Dotson. In 2016 Shockwave came away with the Battle Bama championship. With other Georgia teams not being able to make it, I wonder if we will see some GU or EA Strays players rolling with this team. Outside of hearing about Shockwave here and there, I honestly don't know a ton about this team. Since they are traveling, I think I am safe to assume they are pretty good but I'm not sure if they will be able to compete with the top teams.

MAIN EVENT

NEW YORK

Team Preview:

A surprise trip last year has potentially turned into a must make tournament for one of, if not the best team from the Northeast. Main Event will be traveling from The Big Apple in hopes of being crowned the Best of the Best. Outside of the East coast teams, these guys were somewhat of a hidden gem. By the end of day one, Main Event was no longer a surprise team, going 3 and 0 in pool play with a 49-point differential to boot. That day one performance earned them the #4 seed in bracket play. They cruised through round one and into the quarter finals, where they ended up losing by one point to CTS. I had the opportunity to ask QB Mike Demarteleire what he feels the team could do differently to accomplish their goal of winning the championship. He said "Gotta finish the game!' That is the perfect answer as the team was up by 11 points with ten minutes left to go in the game. They will look to Mike to find stud WR Will Cole and Uslet (Speedy) Volcy to run that score up and out of reach. Even with their short comings in last year's tournament, this team is no stranger to winning. They were the 2020 8man FFWCT West Coast Champs, 2020 9man UFFL National Champs, and you might as well throw in the 2020 5man FFWCT East Coast Champs for grins. Main Event will surely use day one as a warmup as they waltz into bracket play. Once there, this team has the potential to be crowned the new Best of the Best Champion.

Team Previews Written By: Michael Parfitt - Colorado Flag Football Corner

BULLS

COLORADO

Team Preview:

Fresh off their first PF3 Pro Division championship, the Bulls are looking to show this is just the beginning of what is to come. This Bulls team is no stranger to the Best of the Best, as they are playing in their fifth B.O.B tournament. The previous four appearances were not the results this team quite wanted. Last year they just barely missed out on the Pro bracket but made it to the Comp championship game. A loss in that game along with missing the Pro bracket put this squad on a mission. During the off season they heavily recruited and have appeared to fill the holes in their roster. Their defensive front is stacked with talent and lead by Mike Uribe. Along with the offensive weapons they already have, the Bulls added one of the best receivers in the state in Marcus Crowder. That is a nice weapon for David Knighton to have at his disposal and should only help his numbers inflate. With the additions on both side of the ball, it could be just what this team needs to be considered a top contender. The length and speed this team possess on the defensive side of the ball should help them match up against just about anybody. A championship victory in the new Jumpman league in Northern Colorado earned them a paid bid to FFWCT worlds. A championship win at the Best of the Best would put their name on the radar of teams across the nation.

HUSKERS

COLORADO

Team Preview:

Don't look now but two of Colorado's top teams have combined to create an ultra-talented team. What makes this merger even more dangerous is a lot of the players have played together before. That helps the chemistry of the team be flawless. Starting with the offensive line, they have the capability of matching up with any type of defensive line they may face. That offensive line will give all sorts of protection to Duece Richardson. With Duece as a dual threat QB, it will give defenses that much more to defend. Of course, when you combine that with the speed, great hands, and great route running from the WR position, it will be a shock if this offense doesn't put up an average of 30 points a game. On the defensive side of the ball, it starts with the d-line. This d-line will be one of the most difficult lines to block. When they are not getting sacks, the pressure will be so immense it will help create chances for turnovers from these stud DB's. In the secondary, look for the veteran leadership to pave the way to locking down teams top WR's. The secondary will not just have experience but speed and athleticism. The Huskers were the B.O.B champions last year and CTS made it to the final four, so you already know this is a team that is filled with ridiculous talent. This is Colorado's number one ranked team coming into the tournament.

OUTLAWS

WASHINGTON

Team Preview:

The Outlaws have become a main stay in the Best of the Best and compete every year. They are former Best of the Best Comp champions and always seem to be in the running in the Pro Bracket. Last year the Outlaws won their first two games in the Pro bracket but ended up running into a buzz saw against Sickwidit. This year they are planning on making it even further with some fresh faces added to an already talented group. From what I've heard the Outlaws will have a decent number of players that played on Cali Coalition last year. One of the headlining names is Jayson Medeiros who will be at QB. With the veteran QB having so much national tournament success, this is a huge addition. This team is extremely deep at wideout, so Jayson should have no problem finding playmakers. On the defensive side these guys boast an extremely talented pass rusher in Brooks Goff. Goff is blessed with strength, speed, and great technique. This is a great combination to have, making him is darn near unblockable. In the secondary, teams need to be wary of Dariel Patton patrolling and making plays. The Outlaws are one of the west coast's premier teams and are ready to do battle against any east coast team they line up against. A Best of the Best Pro bracket Championship is what this team is aiming for and if they accomplish that this year, the nation will be put on notice to not overlook the Outlaws.

Team Previews Written By: Michael Parfitt - Colorado Flag Football Corner

FOE

Team Preview:

Don't let the name fool you, Foe out of Arizona is former New Dynasty. While it may not be the exact same team form Arizona there are quite a few players that have three or four Best of the Best tournaments under their belts. Once again an Arizona team will be lead by Jabary Gibson who is the former Hoppers QB. Mr. Gibson can rest easy at night cause he will have an elite tackle blocking for him in Ernie Bailey. In case anyone doesn't know Ernie has no problem serving up pancakes to anyone that is hungry. This Arizona squad is massively stacked with talent which also includes DeVonte Nelson. DeVonte is such a versatile weapon and can literally play anywhere. He is like the Tyrann Mathieu of flag football. His speed allows him chew up ground and then his playmaking ability adds to DeVonte is a star player. The do it all guy on defense is Josh Hendricks who can get it done in all three levels of the defense and at a high level. With Justin Goolby commanding this defense its shocking anyone even scores on such a star powered defense. Another run in the Pro bracket is easily in the cards for these guys and in DeVonte Nelson's own words, "It's Az vs EVERYBODY."

ARIZONA

Team Previews Written By: Michael Parfitt - Colorado Flag Football Corner

CALI ELITE

CALIFORNIA

Team Preview:

Just as the name implies, this team comes from California and is a conglomerate of Cali teams. This new team is coached by the legend Coach Roy. With players from North and Central Cali, there are quite a few championship and national power house teams that are represented. Their QB is a very smart, athletic playmaker that should hassle teams. The receiving and defensive back cores are filled with veteran players. Some of those veteran players come from Cali Coalition, Grizzly City and Lunatics TX. Look for the line to be this teams' strong suit with plenty of power and speed. That combination should wreak havoc for the opposing team. This team is looking to make a name for themselves and intend to do just that. With California being so shut down because of covid, it will be interesting to see just how much chemistry this team will have. There is no doubt these guys are going to be loaded with talent. Last year Grizzly City went 1-1-1 and made it to the Pro bracket. With this team having a fair number of Grizzly players, it is a good chance these guys will be back in the Pro bracket this year.

SWIFT - CHIEFS COLORADO

Team Preview:

Another combination team that is filled with an insane amount of talent. This merger happened with so little time left before the tournament, I can only speculate what these guys will bring to the field. I've heard rumors that Will Franklin, former Georgia United QB, is flying in and will be at QB for these guys. That veteran experience in big time tournaments is going to be huge factor. Will is going to have a ton of wideout options to throw to, all with speed and the great ability to come down with the ball on contested throws. There should be plenty of time to get the ball to those play makers as the offensive line should be stacked with big, athletic linemen. On the defensive side, I am imagining a d-line stacked with promising young pass rushers mixed in with veteran, unstoppable, straight bad ass d-linemen. After the d-line, the backend is littered with speed, speed, and a little more speed. Veteran middle backer Steve Heit has a knack for flying to the ball and making remarkable diving flag pulls. He is a true sideline to sideline middle backer. I'm not sure how the defensive backfield will look as far as personnel but if it is even filled with half of the normal Swift players, teams will have an extremely tough time completing passes. I can only assume that Julian Banks, one of the fastest players in the state of Colorado, will be roaming at some position in the secondary as well as getting some time in on the offensive side of the ball. To be honest, there aren't a ton of weaknesses this merged team will have. The biggest thing I can see is cohesion and getting everyone on the same page. My guess is any issues will get worked out by the first half of the first game. If these guys don't make it to the Pro bracket, then I will be completely shocked.

Team Previews Written By: Michael Parfitt - Colorado Flag Football Corner

UFB

NEVADA

Team Preview:

This UFB team is quickly on the rise as one of Vegas's top teams. The talent on this team is undeniable and is looking to match up with some of the top talent from around the Nation. UFB just recently won the VSF Vegas Nationals Tournament and adding a Best of the Best championship I'm sure would look really nice on their resume. These guys have players from the nationally known Playboy Bunnies scattered all throughout their roster which only helps the chances of these guys seeing the Sunday money bracket. Running the offense will be Anthony Whitney at QB. Anthony is a playmaker with both his arm and legs. His top target will be Eric "Munchie" Shufford Jr who possesses both great hands and route running ability. Eric will also play at a high level as a defensive back. One of Eric's running mates at both positions is Chris Marshall. Chris is this team's most explosive athlete and is a human highlight reel. With his crazy ability to make would be flag pullers miss, he can go the distance anytime he touches the ball. The defensive captain of the team is Josh Smith, and he is a do it all kind of guy. When playing LB, he covers sideline to sideline and is one of the most surefire flag pullers in the nation. Having just played this team in April, I can tell you the defensive line is very talented. They can get pressure with two, three, and sometimes four pass rushers. Keeping the o-line on their toes is one huge thing their opponents will need to prepare themselves for. A lot of pundits look at the East Coast as being the talent mecca and rightfully so, but Vegas should not be slept on as they have a lot more talent than people give them credit for. UFB will be one team others should not overlook.

VIP

COLORADO

Team Preview:

After years of dominating the Colorado Springs leagues, VIP finally made the decision to join the PF3 league. In their first season they made it to the Comp championship game and even though they lost in that game they still showed they were stacked with Pro league talent that they got an invite up to the Pro division. They just wrapped up their first Pro division season this past spring and they lived up to expectations. Juan Gallegos may be a pocket QB, but he knows when to move around just enough to deliver a perfect pass. Even though VIP plays a traditional offense, they have a few tricks up their sleeve that leaves defenses stunned. One of the very best players on offense and defense is Russel Curtis, who makes remarkable catches on offense and defense. VIP is blessed to have the "Goliath" award winner, which is given to the best PF3 offensive lineman during the season, in Demario Pruitt who is a mountain of a man and has no problem putting wannabe pass rushers into the dirt. On the defensive side of the ball, VIP has some extremely talented pass rushers and usually only send two rushers. Those two pass rushers create a ton of pressure on the QB which makes for far less windows to throw the ball. VIP has made the Best of the Best tournament quite a few times now. Last year they ended up beating Georgia United in the first round of the Pro Bracket. They would go on to lose to the eventual champions in the next round. That performance from last year leaves more to be desired this year. With that said, teams would be wise to not overlook this VIP team in the pool play or in the Bracket play.

BALLHAWKS

NEVADA

Team Preview:

Outside of Vegas I don't think to many people know about the Las Vegas Ballhawks. I can speak form experience that these guys are just as talented as many of the teams people do know. A few years ago these guys came away with the championship in the Vegas Flag Mag tournament. Since then they have stepped up to bigger and tougher tournaments and have not disappointed. The Ballhawks were in fact eh 2020 Western National Champions. Captain Stevie Dyson has put together a very talented a team that should be considered contenders in any tournament they register for. The oline is big and athletic which should help in give plenty of time for plays to develop. Everyone should be aware of Vell Washington who will be making plays all over the field. Im not sure if Chris Cunningham will be making the trip but if he is, the dude is a handful to try and block. One thing I am sure of, with SIckwidit not making the trip to Colorado, you can bet that some of that talent will find its way on to the Ballhawks and other Vegas teams. This is one of the teams that I'm happy is finally making the trip for the Best of the Best. Teams Beware, these guys should not be dismissed.

MENACE

COLORADO

Team Preview:

Menace is one of those teams that prides themselves with good defensive play. These guys are good flag pullers and fly to the ball. One of the stingiest defenses is a reason why Menace is one of the top 5 teams in Colorado. What's even more shocking is the amount of pressure this team gets on the QB while mainly rushing just two defensive linemen. The real reason why they can get pressure with just two is because of the lock down defensive backs this teams has playing for them. Andrew Bergner is one of those. A former standout at CU, Andrew just knows how to play the game with great technique and is always in great position. Of course, Menace did not tie and then just barely lose to the runner up in last year's B.O.B with just good defense, they also have an offense that can put some points. Teams can take their pick of being beat deep or death by a thousand screens. The offensive line is big and sturdy creating protection for the QB but don't forget to keep your head on a swivel in the screen game because the big boys get out and run too. Look for Malcolm Whye and Kyle Trinidad, among many others, to be the playmakers for this squad. Menace will be looking to build on last year's finish. They will surely have a few surprises up their sleeve to do so.

MONSTARS

NEVADA

Team Preview:

Making their second Best of the Best, we welcome back the Monstars. Looking to lead this team to victory from the QB position is Zach Luci. He just finished leading this team to a Las Vegas Gridiron Elite Division championship. He may be small in stature, but this little guy has a heart the size of the world. The o-line is going to put this little bundle of joy in their back pocket and clear the way as they are stacked with talent. The Monstars are going to lean on their defense to help set the tone. Look for Daniel Allen to make a lot of plays along with Tee Jones, Donny Oberkramer, as well as Xavion Johnson and team captain, Devin Martin, who are all going to be instrumental in this team's success. Overall, this team is looking better than last year and should be competing for a Pro Bracket spot.

THE TAKEOVER

OHIO

Team Preview:

Team Takeover is the second Ohio team to find their way to the Best of the Best. As shown from the dominance of STV (and a college that shall not be named), Ohio has a ton of football talent. I am assuming Takeover will be the same, a highly gifted team that will frustrate their opponents. The QB for Takeover is Steve Grau, who can also get the job done with his legs. Along with Steve, teams will need to be aware of William Harris who is one of Takeovers top playmakers. Takeover does have a FFWCT championship in their trophy case. Gibson Dweh is the ironman of the team as he plays WR, DB, and DL. Jessee Widener will also line up at WR and DL and brings the unexpected. "The Takeover is Real."

MISFITS

NEVADA

Team Preview:

For the third year in a row the Vegas Misfits are making the trip to Colorado to compete. The two previous years the Misfits put up a fight and were no easy opponent to go up against. I am expecting more of the same this year. One player I know that Mr. Adam Aguilar has picked up is the very explosive Dom Villas. Dom is an elite player at both wide receiver and defensive back positions. Whenever Adam is not playing QB himself or if he wants the option for a second QB on the field, he can look in Dom's direction. This Misfits team is learning I can say that. In their first year competing they only came with 11 players, last year they had 13 players, but this year they should be up closer to 16 players. One set offense and one set defense. That does help with keeping things very organized. While this is a bold strategy Cotton, it could work out in their favor. Playing with 16 players is solid but making a run all the way to the championship is a tall task. On the defensive side of the ball they will showcase a ballhawking safety from Chicago in Kalen Petty. After going 1 and 2 in the pool play, the Misfits found themselves in the Comp bracket last year but fell just short to the EA Strays in the first round. With more bodies on the team these guys could push for a Pro bracket bid if everything falls into place.

GOON SQUAD COLORADO

Team Preview:

Another Colorado Springs team that is making the trip north to compete in the Best of the Best. From everything I know of this team, they have some pretty decent talent. Their QB is Alex "Ski" Nieberg who is a Dual threat QB. He has a big arm and is great at being a play maker when things break down. At his disposal will be two-way player WR/CB Jay "JB" Baker. Jay stands at 6'3 and is a good bump and run corner. Has good vertical speed and has a great set of hands. Forcing opposing QB's to get rid of the ball in a hurry will be pass rusher Jordan Buss. Jordan is a defensive minded player, and his speed and technique is what sets him apart. Goon Squad was in the tournament last year and with another year of experience they are looking to take the next step. While winning would be great, these guys are looking to have good time.

DISCIPLES

COLORADO

Team Preview:

The Disciples are another Colorado team that competes in the PF3 league. Lead by captain and QB Dero Ard, these guys are no push over. Dero posses the capabilities of making plays with both his legs and his arm. He also can play lock down corner if he needs to. Helping to give time for Dero will be Olineman Zach Hum. Time to throw the ball is always a good thing especially when one of your main targets and playmakers is Haydn Strauss. Mr. Strauss is looked on to make some pretty remarkable plays on offense and defense. Look for Romain Washington to be flying around the edge for sacks along with fellow dlineman Michael Jay. Romain has the capabilities to play anywhere on the defense but with his speed and tenacity he is a perfect fit on the dline. This is still a growing team that has a few adjustments to make but overall I like the talent this team has. They still can be overmatched from some of the top dogs but don't get it twisted they have also stunned some of those top dogs too. These guys are hungry to prove their worth and what better way than in the Best of the Best.

LIGHTNING

COLORADO

Team Preview:

One of the PF3's long standing teams, the Lightning are coming off their first PF3 Comp division championship. This team may not have the elite talent that the top teams have but they have the capabilities to shock a better team if that team isn't on their game. Their mentality is "any given day" and that is represented in their play. Their spread offense is led by long time QB John Everhart and if they get the train rolling early, they have the capability to score big and often. They still need to grow on the defensive side of the ball, but they seem to be slowly getting better. This past season they added some younger players to help in that growth. While the talent level may be too much for the Lightning to make a run at the Pro Division bracket, they should be able to find themselves a spot in the comp division bracket. I'm fairly certain they wouldn't mind adding a Comp B.O.B championship to their Comp league title.

LYCANS

Team Preview:

The Lycans are one the local teams that plays in the PF3 Comp division. A young team still trying to find their way through this flag football world but soaking it all in. They elected to try their hand at the Best of the Best last year. While they didn't win, they did get to play some top tier talent and learn a thing or two. This past spring, the Lycans put some of what they learned to use, going on an incredible run in the Comp division playoffs. Guiding this team is Timmy Manning. He is still trying to refine the skills to be a pocket QB, but he can always rely on his scrambling ability to get the offense out of a jam. Helping to protect Mr. Manning is Aaron Gentile from the center position. Aaron is the emotional leader of the team as well as their best blocker. Aaron is a tight end playing line as he has some if the best hands on the team. Look for Jeremy Moreno to run crisp routes and come down with some contested catches from the receiver position. Skyler Brownsfield oversees the defense from the middle backer spot. Skyler is a sure-fire flag puller and grabs everything within his reach. On the backend look for Mitchell Held to defend everything over the top as a safety with good length and range. Overall look for this team to play hard until the end of each game.

SOT

COLORADO

Team Preview:

For the second year in a row, SOT is playing in the Best of the Best tournament. Last year these guys were a little in over their head when they decided to get into the tournament. This was a rec to comp squad going up against Pro division level talent. I hope captain Devin Church learned a thing or two from last year or it could be similar results. This team is very young in the nature the team is in its infancy. I have not really seen these guys compete in many leagues as SOT but that doesn't mean they haven't played some league ball together. From what I know, Devin plays at the safety spot and will get some time in at WR here and there. While the reality is its going to be extremely difficult for these guys to make it into the Pro bracket, I think it's better suited to say this is more for these guys to learn from some of the best teams from around the nation.

DALLAS MONEY TEAM

TEXAS

Team Preview:

While I don't know a ton about this Dallas Money, I do know this team is for the most part the Texas vs Everyone squad that played in last year's tournament. Contrary to last year, this year I did get some info on who will be on the team. Anyone who is somewhat in the know in flag football, knows of WR Fred McDonald. He is a very talented player that loves to try and get in the head of his opponents. This team is captained by Jonquill Flake. Jonquill informed me he will have Jag city playing for him and at QB, these guys will have Fresh slinging the rock. Last year's team did not see the result they wanted but you can bet this year they will come out with some Texas swagger. I have heard through the grape vine that 8-man ball has become somewhat an afterthought and the main focus is on 5-man ball. Even if these guys don't get as much 8man as other teams, they are not a team anyone is going to want to overlook.

2 FRESH CO

Team Preview:

2 Fresh is a relatively unknown team here in Colorado. They have won a few of the collegiate leagues and won the 7 vs 7 league in Denver. I don't believe they know this, but this tournament will be a huge step up in talent than what these guys are used to. These guys are not coming into this tournament expecting to win the championship. They will be looking to play hard and have some fun and might learn a thing or two in their games. Lining up at QB for 2 Fresh will be Merrick Kelley who is also the team captain. His Brother Preston will be one of his main targets at one of the Wideout spots. Merrick was quoted as saying "we feel we'll have opportunities to move the ball on O." We shall soon find out if that quote is true or not against top tier talent in a different style of play. Their defense will look to fly around and make some plays to help get the ball back to their offense. I could be totally wrong but I'm not sure this team will be making either bracket come Sunday but if they keep an open mind there will be plenty of opportunities to learn from some of the best teams from around the nation. For these guys regardless of the results, hopefully they have fun and who knows... they could prove me wrong.

BALL GANG CO

Team Preview:

As tournaments go, sometimes teams cannot make it for one reason of another. Well with one team dropping out, that left us scrambling for another team to even out all the pools. It just so happened one Colorado squad stepped up in a huge way. First and foremost, I want to give a big thank you to Ball Gang for stepping up with extremely short notice. Some of their key players are Devon Rice who is a 19-year-old lockdown corner. His Uncle Chaz Zamani is the Ball Gangs QB. At MLB look for Jacob Hernandez to be running sideline to sideline making plays. Jacob has experience playing for House in PF3. This may be a new and upcoming team, but they did make the playoffs last year in the Jumpman League in northern Colorado. This will be a great opportunity to learn so much from some of the top teams in the Nation.

UNKNOWN CO

Team Preview:

We ended up having two teams drop out and with great scavenging ability, Unknown is a team we were able to get added. This Unknown team will have plenty of athletes on both sides of the ball just flying around making plays. They will have a veteran QB slinging the rock to those playmakers. This is by far the most mysterious team in the tournament. These guys also get a big thank you for stepping up to the plate on short notice.

CODE OF CONDUCT

If benefits are to be derived from athletics, the highest standard of conduct and sportsmanship must be maintained. The conduct and sportsmanship of the players, coaches, and others associated with the Premier Flag Football Federation should be exemplary. Everyone participating should conduct themselves so that they are a credit to the sport.

Players and team representatives are to abide by, and follow the rules of the guidelines below.

- Encourage good sportsmanship from fellow players, team representatives, and officials at every game by demonstrating good sportsmanship.
- Treat team representatives, other players, officials and fans with respect regardless of race, sex, creed, or abilities.
- Do not engage in unsportsmanlike conduct with any team representative, player, league official, or any other attendee.
- Do not engage in any behavior which would endanger the health, safety, or well-being of a team representative, player, league official, or any other attendee.
- Do not engage in the use of profanity.
- Do not engage in verbal or physical threats or abuse aimed at any team representative, player, league official or any other attendee.
- Do not initiate a fight or scuffle with any team representative, player, league official, or any other attendee.
- If players or team representatives fail to abide by the above code of conduct they will be subject to disciplinary action that could include, but is not limited to the following:
    - Verbal warning by an official
    - Penalties by an official that may affect the outcome of a game
    - Suspension
    - Lifetime ban from all PF3 events (leagues and tournaments)

Players and team representatives must understand that they must uphold the PF3 Player Code of Conduct at all times. All players and coaches should know the importance of sportsmanship. In order to keep this league successful, and be able to secure our fields for years to come, this code of conduct must be strictly adhered to.

By receiving an invitation to play in a PF3 league/event please understand that it's because your team is not only talented, but has previously displayed a high standard of sportsmanship. Let's show everyone why they would want to compete in the Premier Flag Football Federation!

"Show class, have pride, and display character. If you do, winning takes care of itself."
Paul "Bear" Bryant

FIELD RULES / FINES / SUSPENSIONS

LOVELAND SPORTS PARK RULES

& PF3 Fines / Suspensions for non-compliance

NO FIGHTING / NO POLICE CALLS - Loveland Sports Park requires us to fill out full names of each individual involved on a incident form. Our field managers are also required to call the police for every incident. Because incidents like these may cause us to lose these fields in the future we are upping the suspensions and fines for those involved. Anyone caught fighting will be suspended from all PF3 events for 2 years, and fined $500! We know this is a long suspension and a heavy fine, but that's ok. If players want to break this rule and cost teams the chance to play on these fields we don't want them back anyways. This tournament is for those who want to just play the top level of flag football only! There will be plenty of cameras on the fields to help us out on this if an incent occurs.

MUSIC RESTRICTIONS

LOUD AND EXPLICIT MUSIC

Out of respect for the parents and children that will be attending this event we ask that loud music or music with explicit lyrics not be played.

FAILURE TO COMPLY WILL RESULT IN PENALTIES
